AWFUL DETAILS RECOUNTED

Providence, R. I., January 20.—The manner in which Dr. C. Franklin Mohr was shot to death, and the alleged insistence of his wife that he be killed, were described in detail today by George W. Healis, negro chauffeur for Dr. Mohr, at the trial of Mrs. Elizabeth Mohr, Cecil Brown and Henry Spellman, all three charged with the murder.

Healis said it was at the bidding of Mrs. Mohr that he stopped the car at a spot agreed upon with Brown and Spellman, whom the state charges with having shot the physician as he sat with Miss Emily Burger, of whom Mrs. Mohr was jealous.

"All you will have to do is stop the car," the witness declared Mrs. Mohr told him.

He said when he failed to stop the automobile, as agreed, two nights before the murder, Mrs. Mohr bade him hurry up with the killing, saying:

"This is my last chance. My suit for divorce comes up the first of the month."

NEGRO TELLS HIS STORY

Gives Damaging Evidence Against Wife Accused of Murder

Providence, R. I., Jan. 20.—At the trial of Mrs. Mohr for her husband's murder, very damaging evidence was given by George Rooks, partly documentary, disclosing threats to kill the doctor and Miss Berger, and by Florence Ormsbee relative to personal and telephonic messages she had received from Mrs. Mohr inimical to the doctor and his housekeeper. Rooks, who never looked at Mrs. Mohr, admitted that he had a feeling against her because of stories she had told of him.

The day was full of surprises for the defense, especially the production of written threats and the sudden calling of George A. Healls, Dr. Mohr's chauffeur, who turned state's evidence, made the widow pale and shudder. The negro was followed with closeness by Mrs. Mohr. He related his first meeting with Mrs. Mohr, how she got him his job, her request that he should spy on Miss Berger and another woman whom the doctor was taking to Newport; how Brown disclosed a poison of hers that had failed and how Brown proposed to get even with the doctor, showing the gun he was to get him with. After this Healls testified Brown took him

MOMENTOUS MOVE

Danbury, Conn., Jan. 20.—The most momentous chapter in the history of the famous Danbury hatters' case, in which D. E. Lowe & Co. of this city sued more than 200 member of the United Hatters of North America under the provisions of the Sherman anti-trust law for boycott and recovered $25,000 damages and costs after ten years of litigation, was opened in the United States district court in New Haven when Judge Edwin S. Thomas granted a motion of foreclosure made by attorneys for Lowe & Co. The order is directed against 140 separate pieces of property in Danbury and thirty in Bethel and Norwalk. In nearly every instance the home of a defendant is involved.

At the request of W. F. Tamm, attorney of Norwalk, counsel for the defendants, Judge Thomas ruled that the property shall be foreclosed by decree of sale. The lawyers will agree upon a master in chancery to arrange the details of the sale. Appraisals, notices of sale and other preliminaries will occupy several weeks. The hatters whose property is in danger of foreclosure express confidence that their union brothers throughout the country will rally to their aid and save them from the loss of their homes.

GOVERNMENTAL CONTROL FOR SERUM PLANTS

Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Favors Having All Hog Cholera Serum Plants Under Positive Control of State or Federal Government.

The Hon. Carl Vrooman, assistant secretary of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, at a recent meeting of Swine breeders in Chicago, advocated positive control of hog cholera serum plants as a guarantee against improper serum and virus and to prevent spread of disease. The address will be of deep interest in Fayette county which is the mecca for fighting the hog cholera plague. Mr. Vrooman's speech, taken from The Swine World, says:

"The Federal Department of Agriculture is cooperating with the swine producers of this country to the very best of its ability. We are conducting work along a great many lines, too many line for me to enter into any detailed explanation of them here today, but the one line that we are doing the most on is that of the hog cholera serum work. This work has been discussed at our hoof and mouth conference, and is a topic of general talk and discussion over the country today, for the reason that, mixed up with the issues involved in it, are the issues of the hoof and mouth disease and its spread.

"I just want to say one word about that. This hog cholera serum that is receiving such attention on account of the hoof and mouth situation is recognized the world over as being the greatest discovery that has ever been made in the way of a measure for the combating of hog diseases; it is not only recognized in this country, but every country in the civilized world, and we have been conducting—owing to the liberality of Congress, they gave us a half million dollars for the work in 1914—the work throughout the country, demonstrating the work of stamping out hog cholera with hog cholera serum. Some of our results have been very remarkable, I think. I remember in three counties, in three or four years' time the deaths from hog cholera were reduced from 28 per cent to 1 per cent and a fraction—almost entirely wiped out, and at the same time the increase of the production of hogs in those counties was 75 per cent.

"This hog cholera serum is a new thing, have not gotten the legislation from Congress that we hope to get a little later; we have not as much authority as we think we ought

The Customers to Whom We Have Sold This Roofing Are Boosters!

We give full weight 26-gauge, open-hearth galvanized sheets. Our roofing costs less per square put on than any other roof.

Comparison? The Concave Roof requires no lath or sheathing, thus saving over a dollar a square. It will not rust from the under side, as do other roofs laid on lath. By making the roof fast directly to the rafters, much longer nails can be used, insuring greater permanency. Any ordinary laborer can put it on.

Each sheet forms a gutter and carries the water away from the joint. The concave takes care of the expansion and contraction, and will not pull the nails as do other metal roofs.

The 26-gauge will not rattle, as it is stiff and rigid. If you want a good, durable roof, buy the Concave in 26-gauge, open-hearth galvanized; such as we are selling, and you will end at once all your roof troubles.

Snow and ice do not leak through the Concave Roof. We have no clamps or seams to break or crack the galvanizing. Lighter building construction can be used, as this roof weighs only about 100 pounds to the square.

to have; we have not the appropriations we think we ought to have. We are now working under that appropriation from Congress, and our experts under the efficient leadership of Dr. Dorset, are proving that serum is beneficial, and we are sending out serum of full potency for the purpose of other tests.

"Do not lose faith in the serum. We are going to solve all the problems that arise. I think we have gotten ahead of the hog cholera situation in this country. You cannot do anything in one step and we did not expect to solve this entire problem at one jump, but we are solving it steadily, splendidly, and in the very near future we hope to have the whole situation so well in hand that the swine breeders of this country, will feel that at last one of the great scourges of the race has been exterminated."

From the very beginning of the work of Doctors Dorset and Niles in serum experimentation, we have watched the growth of the serum business and have always given the serum simultaneous treatment our full approval, provided that it was properly done, and the serum used was potent and the virus of full strength so as to insure immunity. With good serum and virus the percent of loss, when properly used, is very small, but have we not reached a point where the manufacture and sale and the use of serum and virus should be controlled not only interstate, but intrastate.

There are reliable and dependable serum manufacturers. Unfortunately, however, there are many others, who, if not unscrupulous, are not manufacturing a dependable product, and such manufacturers must be put out of business. This in our judgment, can only be done by some system of positive control. Reliable manufacturers will without question, welcome control which condition would not only protect the swine breeder and feeder, but would also protect the manufacturer of reliable serum.

The use of unreliable serum and virus, together with the careless and often criminal way in which it has been used, has led many farmers and breeders to have no confidence in this wonderful scientific product.

This subject is of vital importance to swine breeders and growers and we hope to have it discussed through the columns of The Swine World, thoroughly and frankly that every man interested in swine will be able to secure reliable information, and we trust that out of this discussion will come controlled plants; the control by state or government, but absolute control.

BET HE DOES

Miami, Fla., Jan. 20.—When asked his views in regard to President Wilson's plans to take the stump for preparedness, William J. Bryan said: "The president will decide for himself whether he feels it his duty to take the stump for preparedness and does not need any advice on the subject. There will be one advantage in getting out among the taxpayers and away from the atmosphere infected by the big dailies which represent the manufacturers of munitions. He will find that the mass of people are not frightened by the imaginary wars and are more interested in preserving the peaceful ideals of the nation than they are in flattering the vanity of military experts and swelling the dividends of the traffickers in war materials."

Asked if he had planned to follow the Wilson tour and stump against President Wilson's preparedness campaign, Bryan said he had no plans for speaking for the present.

Going to Talk It Over

President Wilson has announced his intention of going "to the country" with his preparedness program. He promises to discuss the whole project freely and frankly with the American people, face to face.

Latest advices from the national capital state that the president expects to begin his tour early in February and that the middle west has been chosen as the ground upon which his first public utterances will be made.

In determining upon that course President Wilson has given the very best evidence of his sincerity and good intentions.

There is nothing that is more conducive to a correct understanding of public questions, nothing that exerts a greater influence toward correcting a misunderstanding on the part of the public, nothing which tends more forcefully to bring about harmony between the people and their public servants, than an honest open discussion.

By following the course announced the president will be able to meet those who differ with him face to face and those who differ with the chief executive will have the opportunity of hearing, first hand, his reasons and his purpose.

President Wilson owes much of his strength as a public official to the fact that he has always dealt fairly and openly with the people.

He has always gone directly to the people with every proposal and has been sustained in almost every instance when he appealed to the "folks at home."

No action of all President Wilson has been compelled to take to meet the many troublesome questions which have arisen to confront him during his public service, has met with the opposition the preparedness program has.

It is reassuring to know that the president is going to talk things over with us.

Undoubtedly when the talks end we will all of us understand each other better.

The Time of Reports

This is the time of year when the business man feels certain that the national and state governments have enacted entirely too many laws regulating business affairs.

Buried under a small mountain of blanks to be used in making reports to this and the other official, board or commission, many business men engage in their annual anvil chorus.

On the larger incorporated businesses where an army of clerks and statisticians is employed the year round and where everything is kept in methodical order and in exact balance the burden is not felt. Neither is the amount of fees a matter of any considerable moment.

Business men in the smaller towns of the rural sections should be mindful that, for them and their business all the "red tape" is unnecessary, but in order to prevent abuses and to compel those who would not obey the laws, general provisions affecting all alike must be enacted.

And being mindful of that the small business men should be during January and February heroically patient and wade through.

Herrick's Candidacy

The latest entry into the arena of national and state politics of more than general interest, right here in Fayette county, is that of ex-Governor Myron T. Herrick of Cleveland, as a candidate for United States Senator from Ohio.

The entrance of Mr. Herrick in the race has been expected for sometime. The actual announcement was postponed until, in the opinion of his close friends, a sufficient demand for his candidacy was created as a result of their activities.

But all that aside.

Suffice it to say that the announcement of Mr. Herrick's candidacy has not met with the cordial reception his friends had hoped for and believed it would receive. The Herrick announcement has, on the contrary, resulted in more outspoken favor for the candidacy of Hon. Harry M. Daugherty. Party leaders and party newspapers from every section of the state, save Cleveland and its environs, are emphatic in their insistence that Cleveland and northern Ohio, especially in view of the fact that Cleveland is asking Buckeye republicans to support ex-Senator Burton's candidacy for president, has had enough and more than its share of political recognition. It is proper, they assert, that the great central and southern sections of Ohio be given recognition and most important that central and southern Ohio be given more direct representation so that the interests of those sections will be looked after by one in touch and in sympathy with them.

Friends of Mr. Daugherty in this county and in this section of Ohio are elated. The Herrick announcement which has served to knit closer together the adherents of Mr. Daugherty and to bring the support which lay dormant when there was no opposition, into line for active and aggressive campaigning.

Poetry For Today

THE QUEST FOR HAPPINESS.

Just beyond yonder heath, just across yonder stream,
Ever fleeing, evasively,—luring us on,
Sparkling visions of glittering something, gleam
Through daylight's glare,—from twilight till dawn;
Emitting bright flashes, through the dark of life's night,
Eluding us, just as we think to possess.
Flits this will-o'-the-wisp, like a woodland sprite,
Unalloyed,—unattainable,—Happiness.

We scale mountains of trouble, ford rivers of grief,
Pursuing this phantom, just out of our grasp;
Of our hearts make a stone, of our conscience, a thief,
In our zeal to embrace it, in permanent clasp;
Till at length, overcome by the maddening pace
We abandon our hopes,—sink to earth, with a moan,
Then, turning disconsolate, back from the chase,
Find Happiness, waiting serenely, at Home.

GET RICH QUICK SCHEMES.

For Big Investors They May Work, but Not For Small Ones.
"Those who labor hard for their money and who have a still more arduous struggle in saving small sums," says a banker in the American Magazine, "naturally fall easy victims in many instances to the desire for sudden riches. But the fatal error lies in supposing that the person of small means can afford to take the chance. If he or she loses they lose all. The large capitalist and the professional money lender have the law of averages working with them. They can afford to sink money into twenty ventures if they make a thousand per cent on one. They are protected by the law of chance, the average safety of their investments depending upon no single risk.
"Risk is a necessary part of business, but should be borne by the strong, never by the weak. The promoter who talks about the small investor being given the same opportunities as the very rich is indulging in 'bunk.' He always forgets to say that a safe 5 per cent bond or a 6 per cent mortgage, 'cold, impersonal depositories for funds,' will at the end of five years have paid their owners 30 per cent to 35 per cent (allowing for compound interest) and that the vast majority of new ventures with big promises will have paid nothing.
"Only the man who can afford to take risks has any business to look for an investment that will make him rich quickly."

TO GIVE HOSPITALS IN EVENT OF WAR

Two Institutions Are Pledged by Mrs. E. T. Stotesbury.

WILL CARE FOR 200 PATIENTS

Pledge Has Been Made Through Pennsylvania Women's Division For National Preparedness, Recently Organized in Philadelphia—Fourth Offer of Emergency Hospitals Made.

Philadelphia.—Two hospitals, one in the city and one in the country, with a combined capacity of two hundred patients, have been pledged by Mrs. E. T. Stotesbury for public use in the event of invasion or national calamity. The pledge has been made through the Pennsylvania Women's Division For National Preparedness, recently organized here. It is the fourth offer of emergency hospitals to be made to this organization in the last few weeks. Mrs. Archibald Barklie, Mrs. Alexander Van Rensselaer and Mrs. J. Gardner Cassatt having offered the use of their homes to the division.

In a letter to Mrs. George W. Childs Drexel, chairman of the division, Mrs. Stotesbury said: "I will gladly give a unit and would choose as my particular field of responsibility a hospital in town and one in the country. I think I could safely undertake the responsibility of caring for 200 patients, so put me down for that and whatever expense it would entail. I would rather undertake indoor duties than to run a motor."

Dr. Clara Marshall, dean of the Women's Medical college, has made arrangements by which women so desiring it may be trained in the work of first aid, diet cooking and other adjuncts to hospital work. This training will be carried on without expense to the women desiring to take it up.

Mrs. E. T. Stotesbury was formerly Mrs. Oliver Cromwell of Washington and was married to Mr. Stotesbury in January, 1912, with impressive services which were attended by a number of notables. Her first husband was a prominent yachtsman and died in December, 1909.

For years she had been prominently identified with society life in the capital and also with its philanthropic enterprises. Her taste in this work is shared by her husband, who is a sponsor for several social and civic movements in Philadelphia, where he is at the head of Drexel & Co., the Philadelphia connection with J. P. Morgan & Co.

Mr. Stotesbury is a great lover of painting. It was through him that Oscar Hammerstein was induced to build the Philadelphia Opera House. He holds a directorship in a score of corporations and is an exhibitor at both the Philadelphia and New York horse shows, being fond of all outdoor sports.

MARINES RESPECTED ANTHEM

But Were Forcibly Ejected From Theater When They Stood Up.

Washington.—Because they insisted on standing up while the "Star Spangled Banner" was being played and refused to sit down when ordered to do so by persons in the rear two privates of the United States marine corps, in full uniform, were forcibly ejected from a local motion picture theater.

A recent ruling by a justice of the District supreme court gives the management of a theater the right to eject patrons under similar circumstances, and no official protest by the marine corps authorities will result.

CLARAGE CORN ORIGINATED IN NORTHWESTERN FAYETTE

J. H. Galbraith, of Columbus, Unearths Interesting History, Which Shows That Famous Variety of Corn Was First Grown By Edmund Clarridge, in Jefferson or Paint Town ship.

It is not generally known that Clarage corn—one of the best known and most improved varieties in existence, originated in Fayette county upward of a hundred years ago.

This interesting information is carried in an article written by the well known historian, J. H. Galbraith of Columbus, in a recent issue of the Columbus Dispatch. The entire article follows:

"It often happens that the origin of a variety of fruit or grain is difficult to trace, and is not infrequently lost in the chance and accident of horticultural or agricultural operations. The origin and manner of the development of the Clarage corn, probably the best known variety in this and other states in the corn belt, are, however, very definitely known. Its home was in the northwestern part of Fayette county, the time about seventy years ago, and the man who did it was Edmund Clarridge.

The name is a corruption of that of the man who produced the variety. He was born in Maryland, October 2, 1789, the year after the first settlement was made in Ohio. He came with his parents when he was 12 years old, to settle on a farm in Ross county. Twenty years later he married and went to locate his own home in the northwest corner of Fayette county, where in 1867 he died.

His sons continued to develop this variety of corn where their father left it, and added materially to its well-known qualities. The basis of the variety was a native yellow dent corn that he found the farmers of Fayette county raising when he went there, but through many years he carried forward a corn-breeding plan in which he sought for seed ears which showed early maturity, straight rows of grain on the cob, deep grains and a deep yellow color in the grains with a honey yellow cap.

Both Clarridge and his sons always selected their seed corn from the stalks before cutting, and exercising care to have it dried thoroughly, their farm always produced seed corn that was reliable even in years when there was trouble with the seed; and so there came to be a wide demand for their corn.

They always claimed for their corn that it was specially adapted to clay ground, but it is generally used now all over the state except in the bottom lands where white corn is still favored. A son-in-law of Mr. Clarridge, A. B. Core, about 1855, developed what he called the Improved Clarage Corn on his farm near Sedalia, but it has never become as popular as the original."

WILL EXHIBIT NOTED PAINTING

For an entire week in March citizens throughout this part of Ohio will have the opportunity of inspecting one of the world's greatest paintings—"The Last Supper," painted by Mr. W. H. Leavitt, and it will be exhibited by Mr. Leavitt who also will give lectures, and who will be assisted by his talented wife in vocal and instrumental music.

The painting to be exhibited here is valued at $100,000, and every minute it is exhibited here it will be in the custody of a guard, who never allows it to leave his sight.

Arrangements for exhibiting the noted work of art were completed

Thursday afternoon, and it will be shown under the auspices of the Washington High School.

It will be the first time that a painting of such value and such merit has ever been shown here, and thousands are expected to visit it. Mr. Leavitt was for five years with the immortal painter and sculptor Gerome, at the Ecole National Des Beaux Arts de Paris. For several years Mr. Leavitt studied the subject, visiting the Holy land and the house in which tradition says Christ ate his last supper on earth. He worked five years in the actual painting of the picture.

MARTINE ADMITS ADDITIONAL CRIME

Neal Martine, the former B. & O. detective who was dismissed from service on January 10th and later arrested and fined for the theft of guns, handcuffs, and other articles, has admitted that he stole a purse containing about one dollar from Sheriff Jones' office.

The purse disappeared but Martine was not suspected until he was arrested, when it was remembered that he had been in the office at the time the purse disappeared. When accused he admitted that he had gotten it for his "collection," and told the officials he would return the purse and contents.

Before leaving Martine also informed Chief Moore that he would send back to him the silver wreath stolen from the chief's cap.

It also develops that Martine recently badly frightened the night telephone operators, and that he narrowly escaped arrest for his part in an escapade in a local hotel the first night he was in this city.

NEW TRUSTEE NAMED TO FILL VACANCY

At the regular meeting of the Y. M. C. A. trustees, Wednesday night, the resignation of Mr. A. H. Ballard was tendered on account of the press of business duties.

The resignation was accepted and Mr. George Hitchcock was chosen to fill the vacancy.

The report of Secretary Patton was received by the Board. The report covers the months of November and December. For the month of November $871.96 was collected, $471.00 paid out for running expenses, and $493.42 paid on old bills, leaving $461 unpaid.

In December the amount received was $408.71 and $662.61 was paid out, which included expenses for fixtures and changes. The outstanding indebtedness at the beginning of the year was $711.89.

SCHOOLS CLOSE ON ACCOUNT OF GRIPPE

The public schools of the city were dismissed at the noon hour, Thursday, for the remainder of the day, the action being due to the widespread epidemic of the grippe which has caused a great falling off in attendance, and also as a result of the continued downpour of rain and the slippery condition of the walks.

The precaution was deemed necessary on account of the likelihood of scores of children contracting the grippe during the inclement weather. The schools will re-open again Friday morning.

FUNERAL SERVICES OF BENJ. MERSON

Funeral services for Mr. Benjamin Merson, who died suddenly Wednesday afternoon, will be held Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock from Wesley Chapel, on S. Fayette street. Rev. Wm. B. Gage will conduct the services.

ELK ARRIVES AND IS PLACED ON EXHIBITION

He is here! He arrived on schedule time Thursday morning.

"He" is the big elk recently purchased by the Elks in Cincinnati, and now Washington and Fayette county citizens will have an opportunity of viewing the big fellow before he adorns a place in the Elks' Home in this city.

Mr. Elk was shipped over the B. & O. and when he arrived here was met by a number of Elks and escorted to the Airdome on Market street, where he will be on exhibition the remainder of this week, and everybody is invited to take a look at the elk. The place will be open from nine to four o'clock each day.

The elk was in a huge cage, or crate, constructed of wood and bound with iron bands. The crate was lifted aboard a transfer wagon and hauled to the place where he will be confined for a few days. As the animal was hauled through the streets, horses, scenting a strange beast, leaped toward the curb, and pedestrians stared in wonder until they recognized the visitor from printed description.

Dr. Neil B. Jones has volunteered to look after the elk's diet while the animal is exhibited here.

LIGHTS GO OUT AT TABERNACLE

Before the services were to close at the tabernacle, Wednesday night, the lights went out and the audience departed from the building before repairs could be made.

A woman's meeting, to be addressed by J. W. Troy, will be held at Wesley Chapel, at 2:30 Sunday afternoon.

In Social Circles

Society's interest in the charity year ball, on Friday night, the 11th of February, for the benefit of the Welfare Association, is quickening and there is every indication that not only the younger sets, always eager to trip the light fantastic but also the older society folk will be largely represented.

Many who do not dance are interested both for the good of the cause and for the pleasure promised in the assembly, the beautiful music and the social features planned.

Miss Regina McDonald, who is a most graceful dancer and has had in successful training classes of Juniors and Juveniles, will put on the stage fancy dances during the evening, specially for the entertainment of those not dancing.

Not in years has any music proved more delightful than the Varsity Orchestra, brought from Columbus for the New Year dance, and the fact that this music has been secured for the Charity Ball will be a big drawing card.

Contrary to the precedent which has been generally established the price of five dollars for tickets for charity balls, the committee has decided to make the tickets for this one only two dollars, so that there will be nothing prohibitive in the price.

The Presbyterian church Missionary Society had a very large attendance and a meeting of much interest at the commodious home of Mrs. Wm. R. Smith, Wednesday afternoon. Assisting hostesses were Mesdames John Wilson, Kimble, Millikan, Willson, Bowman, Baughn, Kibler, Hale, Hershey, Daughters, Quinn Hapenny, Hammer.

The topics for the day were the Treasury and China. In the opening of the meeting the president, Mrs. Hopkins, made special mention of the responsibilities today resting on Christian women and with the warning of a year of work and reports coming in, what an active earnest time of thought and effort it should be. The reports of treasurers, secretary and secretary of literature, all showed the Presbyterian women were at work and also that they were to do more—a very interesting letter from the new Presbyterian secretary of Freedmen's work was full of information and suggestions as to what could best be done in enlarging the Friedman's line.

Some personal talk about Society work and a greeting to Mrs. S. M. Templeton of Greenfield, who made cordial response, came in before the program.

Mrs. Lon Thompson was the leader and five minute talks on "Business of Missions," Mrs. Bella Ustick, and "Loyalty," Mrs. Jos. N. Willson, were of interest, preceding a paper by Mrs. Gage on "China up to Date." China has everything to interest the public in its leaving the old lines and taking up the new. The society has two missionaries in that country and one in South America; also among the Mormons, the Freedmen and in Alaska.

Miss Ada Woodward gave a very pretty solo. Miss Ruth Reid accompanying the singer.

A pleasant social hour and refreshments were enjoyed after the meeting.

Miss Helen McKee returned Thursday morning to Cincinnati, to resume her studies at Mt. St. Joseph's Academy. Her mother, Mrs. Ed McKee, accompanied her for the day.

Hon. and Mrs. W. J. Burnett of Cummings, N. Da., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. McCoy, while here to attend the funeral of Mrs. Burnett's brother, Mr. Will James. They will remain for an extended visit with relatives.

Mr. George Grove of the Bogus road, returned Wednesday night from Morton county, N. Dakota, where he has been visiting his father-in-law, Mr. George W. Howe, and prospecting. Mr. Grove is very favorably impressed with the country.

Mrs. H. C. Ireland and son James returned Thursday from a visit of several weeks with Mrs. Roy Dove, in Shelbyville, Ill. She was accompanied home by Mrs. Rouglas Shoaff of Springfield, Ill., who will visit her parents, Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Ireland.

RUSSIA POUNDING AT FIRM LINES

Czar's Troops Again Assume the Offensive.

GERMANS TAKE TRENCHES

Turkish Units Wiped Out According to Report From Petrograd—Italian Army Repulses Austrians in Tolmino Region—German Aeroplanes Attack Russian Base—Activities in Other War Zones.

London, Jan. 20.—Russians again have taken the offensive against the Austro-Hungarians on the Bessarabian frontier east of Czernowitz, capital of Bukowina, after a pause since the conclusion of the New Year's battle in the eastern war zone.

Vienna had forecast that the second phase of the battle in this region was imminent by the announcement that the Russians were throwing strong reinforcements into East Galicia. In the initial offensive of what probably will be termed the second battle, the Russians launched with numerous columns four attacks near Toporoutz and Boyan, but, according to Vienna, they were everywhere repulsed.

The Germans have attacked Russian bases at Tarnopol, East Galicia, with an air squadron.

While the Turkish war office asserts that the Russians in the Caucasus have abandoned their offensive along the entire front of nearly 100 miles, owing to the reinforcement of the Ottomans and their assumption of a violent offensive, the latest Russian official communication describes the Turkish army in this region as having been disorganized and dislodged from a strong position extending over sixty-six miles, the Turkish retreat taking on the character of a panic-stricken flight. Several Turkish units, the communication adds, were almost annihilated, hundreds of bodies covering the field of battle.

Although artillery bombardments, mining and counter-mining operations and aerial attacks continue almost exclusively on the western line in France, the Germans report the capture of trenches along the Yser river. Entente allied airmen have dropped bombs on Metz and Anaville, doing some material damage.

Several attempts of the Austrians to approach Italian positions on the Tolmino sector and near Oslavia were repulsed. Bombardments have prevailed elsewhere.

Another war council of the entente allies, attended by the British and French members, has been held in London. Nothing is known concerning the council, except that it was held for the discussion of policies for further prosecuting the war.

IT'S ALL OFF

London, Jan. 20.—With the announcement that Montenegro has broken off negotiations for peace with Austria-Hungary comes the official statement in a Paris newspaper that King Nicholas and his family and suite already are on their way to Italy. It is presumed that with the severing of the peace pour parlers the Austro-Hungarians again will take up where they left off the campaign of crushing the little kingdom as Serbia was crushed.

Germer to McDonald to prove, he said, that they were asking for an investigation for political purposes within the organization, and McDonald retorted that he had "never resorted to the underhand method of robbing a man's office to get documents."

John I. Lewis of Illinois, chairman of the resolutions committee, President White and William Green, secretary treasurer, denied there was extravagance in the organization.

EYES OF SAXONY ON CROWN PRINCE

Rumor Says King Frederick May Abdicate.

FEAR MOTHER'S INFLUENCE.

Comparative Poverty Has Kept Divorced Wife of Ruler Quiet in Recent Years, but People Are Worried That She Will Become Active Again if Son Takes Throne.

Paris.—A rumor that King Frederick of Saxony was considering the abdication of his throne in favor of his son, Prince George, probably owes its inspiration to the festivities arranged in Dresden for the young man's twenty-third birthday anniversary on Jan. 15, coupled with the fact that for the past three years, since he became twenty, he has been gradually initiated into state affairs, more and more taking his father's place in the reception of minor committees from the council of ministers and parliament. This has been in accordance with the policy of state to take every precautionary measure possible to protect the heir to the Saxon throne and the Saxon people from the influence of Prince George's mother, the notorious ex-Crown Princess Louise, in the event of the sudden death of King Frederick and the accession of Prince George.

The Saxon government fears ex-Crown Princess Louise's baneful influence upon her son almost as much as the Prussians of a century ago feared Napoleon. She is their nightmare, and as long as Prince George remains young and without experience in the grave responsibilities of state the government is in dread of possible complications. Everything is being done to give him a full appreciation of his duty as king. Prince George has not seen his mother for several years, since her so called "memoirs" were published. She eloped from the royal palace some years ago with his tutor, Giron, and was divorced by King Frederick, being compelled to renounce her title as crown princess, her husband conferring upon her the title of Countess of Montignoso. The king took charge of the girl baby born to Louise after her elopement, the child being christened as the king's and given the name of Princess Anne Monique Pie, being included in the royal family and kept away from the mother entirely. Louise's later escapade in marrying an Italian pianist, Toselli, the publicity of a divorce from him and a fight for the child born of this union, with the publication of her memoirs ridiculing her husband's family, had the effect of completely alienating King Frederick and his government from her. Comparative poverty has kept her quiet in recent years.

Prince George's marriage has already received a good deal of attention by his father and the Dresden court, since it is obviously wise to see him settled down early with a prudent wife, whose influence would counteract any which his mother would attempt to exert. A few months before the war it was said that informal negotiations had been opened with the czar for an alliance between the heir to the Saxon throne and the Grand Duchess Tatiana, the czar's second daughter, who will be nineteen next May, a beautiful girl, vivacious and intelligent. This match is, of course, quite impossible now, and the prospective bride generally spoken of at this time is Princess Stephanie of Hohenzollern-Sigmaringen, the daughter of Prince Karl of Hohenzollern, who is two years younger than Prince George.

HIGH COST OF LIVING.

Things That Are Mere Comforts Now Used to Be Luxuries.

No economist has put enough emphasis on the fact that if the cost of living is higher now it is to a large extent because the average man is demanding more comforts and luxuries, and these must cost more. Before the days of plumbing and bathrooms the workman missed some onerous bills, but he is not ready to throw the plumbing out of the house.

Oil is cheaper for light than electricity, but people pay more for a modern light because they want the better service even at the higher prices. Workmen by the thousands have phonographs, a form of entertainment unknown until a very few years ago.

Even street cars are rather a new thing, and the poorest families spend many dollars every year for this service, which has become indispensable. Magazines are purchased now by many people who ten years ago had never subscribed for such a publication.

Thousands of articles are for sale in every department store, of which a large percentage are purchased at some time or other by the average wage earning family.

Modern living does cost more assuredly, but it also yields more.—Milwaukee Journal.

SPEED OF A STAR.

With a Thought That Points a Moral to Impatient Humanity.

There is a star—a reddish star known as Arcturus—that is traveling at the rate of 150 miles a second, and what is interesting about it is it is coming this way and will come for many years, but it is so far away that it doesn't seem to have any motion at all. It is in exactly the same spot, so far as our vision is concerned, where it was a century ago.

There is another star known as the "runaway" whose speed is twice that of Arcturus—that is, it could sweep across Ohio in a second of time.

We refer to this fact that the gentle reader may understand how insignificant are the little concerns of life that tear his patience into tatters and turn the world into woe. Long after he has gone Arcturus will be traveling 150 miles a second and to all appearances not budging an inch. How modest and patient should this touch of near infinity make us all! And yet, as Tenyson says:

We cannot be kind to each other here for an hour.

We whisper and hint, and chuckle and grin at a brother's shame. However, we brave it out; we men are a little breed.

Saves the Tires.

He doesn't look like a very important part of a big automobile organization, this stooped, grizzled man, but the president of a great motorcar company says that "Magnet Bill" saves his salary a dozen times over every day he works. He is a tire man, and he winter "Magnet Bill" may be seen walking slowly about the automobile plant, his eyes on the ground. "Magnet Bill" gets his nickname from the fact that his tools consist solely of one tin bucket and a big steel magnet strapped to the end of a shovel handle. It is his duty to save automobile tires by removing from the roadway every nail and bit of metal that might cause a puncture. Thousands of cars are run over the roadway to the testing place, and it is figured that without the precaution taken by "Magnet Bill" the cost for cut and punctured tires would be $20,000 every year.—Popular Science Monthly and World's Advance.

Origin of a Japanese Dance.

The origin of the Kume-mai, the dance performed at the coronation of the mikado, is traced to Jimmu Teno, an early hero, who while on his eastern expedition found a certain chief named Tsuehigumo most obstinate in his resistance and unobedient. Thereupon he ordered O Kume Nushino Mikoto to entice out the chief, to whom sake was offered and dances were shown, with the result that finally he was overcome and slain. The descendants of O Kume Nushino Mikoto put this fact into songs and music, from which sprang the dance.

FEARING CENSURE OF THE PUBLIC

Germany Won't Admit Wrong
In Lusitania Case.

WILL PAY FOR LIVES LOST

Germany's Proposal to Reserve Admission of Wrongdoing Not Acceptable to United States and Question May Be Omitted—Claim Evidence of Good Faith Has Been Given in Submarine Warfare.

Washington, Jan. 20.—Germany's proposal in settlement of the Lusitania case to incorporate a reservation of any admission of wrongdoing by her submarine commander is understood to have been rejected by the United States. A new proposal from the Berlin government is expected momentarily, however, and there is a possibility that the controversy may be closed by the elimination of all mention of the merits or demerits of the actual torpedoing of the vessel, Germany agreeing to pay an indemnity for the American lives lost, reiterating expressions of regret and calling attention directly or by inference to the contention that she already has given the most effective disavowal by making assurances for the future.

There are, it was said, numerous objections to accepting a form of settlement which, by going into a discussion of the broad questions involved, might serve as an undesirable precedent in the future. Such a form was understood to have been suggested ed in the most recent proposal submitted by Germany through Count Von Bernstorff, the German ambassador. It is known that the opinion prevails in various quarters that such a discussion virtually is superfluous, the belief being that the United States already has achieved its aims.

Official and Teutonic diplomatic circles remain optimistic regarding the ultimate outcome of the negotiations. A strong desire prevails to settle the controversy in a manner satisfactory to both governments and pleasing to public opinion in both countries. Officials, however, do not believe that a settlement in which Germany is permitted to reserve an admission of wrongdoing would meet with approval in the United States, while, on the other hand, it is declared that the opposition in Germany and public opinion there would not approve of a settlement which would entail an admission that the commander of the submarine was wrong in sinking the Lusitania.

Consequently, it was considered in various quarters there was a strong probability that a settlement might be effected by eliminating discussion of the acts of the commander under a policy of the German government, which has since been changed as the result of negotiations with the United States over submarine warfare.

It is considered in Teutonic circles that the recent assurances regarding the conduct of submarine warfare in the Mediterranean, where, because no blockade exists, no reprisals are necessary from the German point of view, contain evidence of the good faith of the German government in regard to the entire subject of submarine operations. It is urged that the same rules would have applied to the conduct of warfare in the North sea had not Great Britain attempted a blockade of Germany.

NOT THROUGH WITH THE TALK

Washington, Jan. 20.—The senate committee on foreign relations struggled with the Mexican situation for two hours, but reached no conclusion on any of the pending resolutions looking to intervention. The meeting was one of the most spirited that has been held for a long time. Senator Borah of Idaho called up the Mexican resolutions in the committee and asked for immediate action. Senator Lodge of Massachusetts approved Borah's stand. For two hours the matter was argued with great earnestness, Chairman Stone and Senators Williams and Clarke resisting action at this time. Senator O'Gorman was absent from the meeting.

Some sentiment was disclosed among the Democrats in favor of action looking to intervention. Senator Pomeroy of Ohio, a strong advocate of the administration, expressed the opinion that intervention might soon become imperative.

One reason for postponing action was the failure to receive from the president information called for on Mexican affairs by the Fall resolution. Senator Sherman of Illinois, Republican, introduced another resolution and asked that it be referred to the committee on foreign relations.

COPY OF DECREE DULY RECEIVED

Washington, Jan. 20.—General Carranza sent to the Mexican embassy here the text of a decree he has issued empowering any citizens of Mexico to kill on sight General Francisco Villa, Rafael Castro and Pablo Lopez, whom he charges with having headed the band of murderers at Santa Ysabel. Thus far, according to reports received at the state department, none of the bandits known to have been with the band of murderers has been captured or punished in accordance with the demands of the United States. In his report to the department telling of the identification in his presence of the bodies of Rodriguez and Bacach Valles, former Villista bandits who were shot and their remains brought to Juarez for public exhibition, Collector of Customs Cobb, at El Paso, states that Rodriguez is known to have been blowing up bridges in another locality from that where the massacre occurred, and that there is nothing to show that Valles, known as Villa's "butcher," was involved.

DON'T LIKE IT

London, Jan. 20.—Reports coming here from Stockholm and Copenhagen indicate that Sweden's feeling against England is now running so high as to cause considerable anxiety in the Scandinavian countries. The controversies over the detention of mails and the seizure of provisions from the Swedish-American liner Stockholm have particularly incited the people, and King Gustav's speech from the throne at the opening of the reichstag Monday had not helped to allay the general concern. It is pointed out that as well as delivering his warning against the usurpation of power by belligerents, the king entirely omitted the customary reference to the country's good relations with foreign powers.

'COURSE IT WAS IT ALWAYS IS

Washington, Jan. 20.—"The Youngstown strike was a sign to the owners and managers of the American steel industry that the end will come; that they can not forever adhere to their present policy of depressing wages below a decent standard by maintaining a vast horde of helpless immigrants in a condition of economic subservience, throwing them on charity during times of depression, paying less than a living wage during times of prosperity and during all times brutalizing them either by imposing excessive hours of employment or by imposing the enforced leisure that breeds fear and pauperization."

This is the conclusion contained in a report on the Youngstown strike and riot of Jan. 7, made public by the committee on industrial relations. The author is George P. West, whose reports on the Colorado strike and the Bayonne strike were published by the United States commission on industrial relations before that body expired on Aug. 23, 1915.

IS ANYTHING RIGHT NOW MILITIA'S WRONG

General Wood Before Senate Committee.

FOR UNIVERSAL SERVICE

Australian System Affords Best Plan For Universal Suffrage, According to Former Chief of Staff of United States Army—Bill of Representative Hay For Increasing Army Condemned.

Washington, Jan. 20.—Former Chief of Staff of the Army Major General Wood told the senate committee of the helpless plight in which the United States would find itself in event it was confronted with war.

General Wood's testimony was the most impressive that has yet been given. The task of raising an army he likened to the predicament of a man led up to a forest and told to build a glass house. The militia system he declared to be vicious, and the volunteer system as little better. He reiterated that with the country's present equipment for coast defense it would be possible for a modern battleship to draw up off Rockaway and drop shells in Seventeenth street in New York city without running the risk of being touched by shore batteries.

The theory that the nations of Europe after the war will be unable to launch a campaign against the United States he characterized as a taeorist drama. The European war had demonstrated as a fact that a large army, far outnumbering the entire standing army of the country, could be landed in a single expedition unless the navy succeeded in affording protection. And the navy of the United States, he added, is now fourth in power. Great Britain alone has launched more capital ships since the beginning of the war than the United States possesses. "After the war we may have all the gold," said General Wood. "But we need to stiffen it with a little iron if we are to protect ourselves."

The plan proposed by General Wood to meet the problem of preparedness followed in general outline the measure introduced by Senator Chamberlain, chairman of the military affairs committee, and differed materially from the Hay bill and the bill proposed by the secretary of war for the establishment of a continental army. General Wood suggested increasing the army to 210,000 men within the United States and its colonial possessions, advocated the enactment of an enlistment law which would pave the way for the establishment of a trained reserve of twice that number of men, and as a basis for future action proposed a system of universal military service for all citizens in one capacity or another. General Wood condemned unreservedly the militia system on which Representative Hay, chairman of the house committee on military affairs, has built plans for increasing the military forces of the United States. The Australian system, General Wood said, affords the best pattern for universal service for the United States. "If we have war we must have at least 2,000,000 men. It is perfect folly to dicker with any system that provides for less."

At the time General Wood was giving his testimony before the senate committee, Senator Cummins in the chamber was advocating the establishment of government factories for making munitions of war. This proposal General Wood characterized as little short of disastrous. "Private plants should be utilized," suggested General Wood, "as a nucleus around which to build an industrial system for military uses. Some of these should be established in the Mississippi valley and the far west. The maintenance of necessary supplies of raw materials should be carefully considered. Nations do not die from war," said General Wood in advocating universal service, "but from long periods of inactivity."

Hugo and His Disciple.

A young man, an admirer of the great poet, attended one of Victor Hugo's receptions, became engaged in argument and lost his temper. Hugo solemnly rebuked him, and he subsided. Presently the guests retired. One of them, however, had forgotten his umbrella and returned to get it. Looking through an open door from the vestibule, he perceived the young man on his knees before the poet, sobbing out his apologies for his disrespect, while Victor Hugo, with almost regal dignity, extended his hand to him and bade him rise.

IT'S A LONG WAY TO TIPPERARY

A Melo-Drama with the "biggest kick" delivered this season! a real box office magnet! The best military play since "Shenadoah."

Note what the critics have to say: The Philadelphia Evening Bulletin: "It's A Long Way to Tipperary" makes "Across the Pacific," "Shenadoah" and "The Round Up" dwindle to the proportions of a street car riot.

The Philadelphia Record: "It's A Long Way To Tipperary" is well staged. Some good drama with songs.

Buffalo Express: "It's A Long Way to Tipperary" has lots of Zip lively enough to satisfy the most exacting. An interesting play of the up to the minute sort. An unusually good company.

Buffalo Courier: "It's A Long Way to Tipperary" with Irish songs and quaint Irish dialect lends a wholesome charm.

Buffalo Times: "It's A Long Way to Tipperary" was appreciated to the limit last night at the Majestic Theater with a combination of tears, laughter and enthusiasm, by which the play is judged a great success. An excellent cast of performers."

It's the old story, give theater goers a creditable play and they will be right there.

An entirely new scenic production. A company of merit, and note the pieces, popular ones that please everybody.

At the Empire Theater, one night Friday, January 21.

A guaranteed attraction. Reserved seat sale opens at Lelands.

CHINESE TRICKERY.

Traders Who Keep Their Victims in Financial Slavery.

Dishonest traveling merchants in China find a particularly lucrative field in which to ply their labors, with the result that almost unbelievable consequences come to light now and then. Some traders, taking advantage of the simplicity of the Mongolians, make an attractive display of goods such as the natives crave to possess, and tempt them to purchase what catches their fancy.

Woe to one who is beguiled to walk into the snare, for the glib tongue of the traveling merchant will soon induce him to take possession of that particular article to which his attention is directed at any price demanded. If he has something to offer in exchange fleeing stops there, but in case he has nothing to give in return a great calamity will befall him.

The vendor will assure him that he is quite welcome to carry away the article on credit. He will come back again to the town after a certain lapse of time. If the native hands over one or several head of cattle as the case may be, and an extra sheep or a horse, equivalent in value to 30 or 40 per cent of the price of the goods advanced, as interest, everything will be satisfactory. However, the merchant on returning seldom collects the price, but is satisfied with carrying away the promised interest, leaving the purchaser in debt so that he can forever milk him.

Thus, it is not rare to see some Mongolians working for the payment of usurious interest on a debt contracted by their fathers or even grandfathers as the result of having fallen a victim to one of these tricky Chinese peddlers.—Argonaut.

THE MOST THRILLING WEDDING DAY IN THE WORLD'S HISTORY.

Do you know what was the most thrilling wedding day in the history of the world? There have been many romantic marriages and many nuptial services that had to be deferred because of the opposition of parent or rival, but all of them pale into dingy gray when compared with the colorful spectacle of the abduction and recapture of the Venetian brides in the early winter of 923, when Candace II, the noble doge, was lending his presence to the biggest wedding party in the history of the Church of San Pietro. It had long been the custom for all the noble brides to be married on St. Mary's day. It was, moreover, the custom for the brides to bring with them all their jewels and their dowries, in gold coin, inclosed in handsomely carved chests.

The latter fact was well known in Trieste, that ancient Roman colony which was the harbor for bands of pirates who were most clever navigators. On this richest of all St. Mary's wedding days the ceremony for more than a score of brides had already begun when the pirates from Trieste burst into the church, captured the brides and their dowries and carried them to the waiting boats. Thanks to the Trunkmakers' union, there were several boats waiting, and in these the be- reft bridegrooms and the sturdy trunk-makers gave pursuit. There was a battle royal, one of the most thrilling sea fights on record, dowries and brides were recovered, and before midnight all had been safely married.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

AWFUL DETAILS RECOUNTED

Providence, R. I., January 20.—The manner in which Dr. C. Franklin Mohr was shot to death, and the alleged insistence of his wife that he be killed, were described in detail today by George W. Healis, negro chauffeur for Dr. Mohr, at the trial of Mrs. Elizabeth Mohr, Cecil Brown and Henry Spellman, all three charged with the murder.

Healis said it was at the bidding of Mrs. Mohr that he stopped the car at a spot agreed upon with Brown and Spellman, whom the state charges with having shot the physician as he sat with Miss Emily Burger, of whom Mrs. Mohr was jealous.

"All you will have to do is stop the car," the witness declared Mrs. Mohr told him.

He said when he failed to stop the automobile, as agreed, two nights before the murder, Mrs. Mohr bade him hurry up with the killing, saying:

"This is my last chance. My suit for divorce comes up the first of the month."

NEGRO TELLS HIS STORY

Gives Damaging Evidence Against Wife Accused of Murder

Providence, R. I., Jan. 20.—At the trial of Mrs. Mohr for her husband's murder, very damaging evidence was given by George Rooks, partly documentary, disclosing threats to kill the doctor and Miss Berger, and by Florence Ormsbee relative to personal and telephonic messages she had received from Mrs. Mohr inimical to the doctor and his housekeeper. Rooks, who never looked at Mrs. Mohr, admitted that he had a feeling against her because of stories she had told of him.

The day was full of surprises for the defense, especially the production of written threats and the sudden calling of George A. Healls, Dr. Mohr's chauffeur, who turned state's evidence, made the widow pale and shudder. The negro was followed with closeness by Mrs. Mohr. He related his first meeting with Mrs. Mohr, how she got him his job, her request that he should spy on Miss Berger and another woman whom the doctor was taking to Newport; how Brown disclosed a poison of hers that had failed and how Brown proposed to get even with the doctor, showing the gun he was to get him with. Lowe & Co. of this city sued more than 200 member of the United Hatters of North America under the provisions of the Sherman anti-trust law for boycott and recovered $25,000 damages and costs after ten years of litigation, was opened in the United States district court in New Haven when Judge Edwin S. Thomas granted a motion of foreclosure made by attorneys for Lowe & Co. The order is directed against 140 separate pieces of property in Danbury and thirty in Bethel and Norwalk. In nearly every instance the home of a defendant is involved.

At the request of W. F. Tammany of Norwalk, counsel for the defendants, Judge Thomas ruled that the property shall be foreclosed by decree of sale. The lawyers will agree upon a master in chancery to arrange the details of the sale. Appraisals, notices of sale and other preliminaries will occupy several weeks. The hatters whose property is in danger of foreclosure express confidence that their union brothers throughout the country will rally to their aid and save them from the loss of their homes.

GOVERNMENTAL CONTROL FOR SERUM PLANTS

Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Favors Having All Hog Cholera Serum Plants Under Positive Control of State or Federal Government.

The Hon. Carl Vrooman, assistant secretary of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, at a recent meeting of Swine breeders in Chicago, advocated positive control of hog cholera serum plants as a guarantee against improper serum and virus and to prevent spread of disease. The address will be of deep interest in Fayette county which is the mecca for fighting the hog cholera plague. Mr. Vrooman's speech, taken from The Swine World, says:

"The Federal Department of Agriculture is cooperating with the swine producers of this country to the very best of its ability. We are conducting work along a great many lines, too many line for me to enter into any detailed explanation of them here today, but the one line that we are doing the most on is that of the hog cholera serum work. This work has been discussed at our hoof and mouth conference, and is a topic of general talk and discussion over the country today, for the reason that, mixed up with the issues involved in it, are the issues of the hoof and mouth disease and its spread.

"I just want to say one word about that. This hog cholera serum that is receiving such attention on account of the hoof and mouth situation is recognized the world over as being the greatest discovery that has ever been made in the way of a measure for the combating of hog diseases; it is not only recognized in this country, but in every country in the civilized world, and we have been conducting—owing to the liberality of Congress, they gave us a half million dollars for the work in 1914—the work throughout the country, demonstrating the work of stamping out hog cholera with hog cholera serum. Some of our results have been very remarkable, I think. I remember in three counties, in three or four years' time the deaths from hog cholera were reduced from 28 per cent to 1 per cent and a fraction—almost entirely wiped out, and at the same time the increase of the production of hogs in those counties was 75 per cent.

"This hog cholera serum is a new thing, have not gotten the legislation from Congress that we hope to get a little later; we have not as much authority as we think we ought

The Customers to Whom We Have Sold This Roofing Are Boosters!

We give full weight 26-gauge, open-hearth galvanized sheets. Our roofing costs less per square put on than any other roof.

Comparison? The Concave Roof requires no lath or sheathing, thus saving over a dollar a square. It will not rust out from the under side, as do other roofs laid on lath. By making the roof fast directly to the rafters, much longer nails can be used, insuring greater permanency. Any ordinary laborer can put it on.

Each sheet forms a gutter and carries the water away from the joint. The concave takes care of the expansion and contraction, and will not pull the nails as do other metal roofs.

The 26-gauge will not rattle, as it is stiff and rigid. If you want a good, durable roof, buy the Concave in 26-gauge, open-hearth galvanized; such as we are selling, and you will end at once all your roof troubles.

Snow and ice do not leak through the Concave Roof. We have no clamps or seams to break or crack the galvanizing. Lighter building construction can be used, as this roof weighs only about 100 pounds to the square.

to have; we have not the appropriations we think we ought to have. We are now working under that appropriation from Congress, and our experts under the efficient leadership of Dr. Dorset, are proving that serum is beneficial, and we are sending out serum of full potency for the purpose of other tests.

"Do not lose faith in the serum. We are going to solve all the problems that arise. I think we have gotten ahead of the hog cholera situation in this country. You cannot do anything in one step and we did not expect to solve this entire problem at one jump, but we are solving it steadily, splendidly, and in the very near future we hope to have the whole situation so well in hand that the swine breeders of this country, will feel that at last one of the great scourges of the race has been exterminated."

From the very beginning of the work of Doctors Dorset and Niles in serum experimentation, we have watched the growth of the serum business and have always given the serum simultaneous treatment to our full approval, provided that it was properly done, and the serum used was potent and the virus of full strength so as to insure immunity. With good serum and virus the per cent of loss, when properly used, is very small, but have we not reached a point where the manufacture and sale and the use of serum and virus should be controlled not only interstate, but intrastate

There are reliable and dependable serum manufacturers. Unfortunately, however, there are many others, who, if not unscrupulous, are not manufacturing a dependable product, and such manufacturers must be put out of business. This in our judgment, can only be done by some system of positive control. Reliable manufacturers will without question, welcome control which condition would not only protect the swine breeder and feeder, but would also protect the manufacturer of reliable serum.

The use of unreliable serum and virus, together with the careless and often criminal way in which it has been used, has led many farmers and breeders to have no confidence in this wonderful scientific product.

This subject is of vital importance to swine breeders and growers and we hope to have it discussed through the columns of The Swine World, thoroughly and frankly that every man interested in swine will be able to secure reliable information, and we trust that out of this discussion will come controlled plants; the control by state or government, but absolute control.

BET HE DOES

Miami, Fla., Jan. 20.—When asked his views in regard to President Wilson's plans to take the stump for preparedness, William J. Bryan said: "The president will decide for himself whether he feels it his duty to take the stump for preparedness and does not need any advice on the subject. There will be one advantage in getting out among the taxpayers and away from the atmosphere infected by the big dailies which represent the manufacturers of munitions. He will find that the mass of people are not frightened by the imaginary wars and are more interested in preserving the peaceful ideals of the nation than they are in flattering the vanity of military experts and swelling the dividends of the traffickers in war materials."

Asked if he had planned to follow the Wilson tour and stump against President Wilson's preparedness campaign, Bryan said he had no plans for speaking for the present.

Going to Talk It Over

President Wilson has announced his intention of going "to the country" with his preparedness program. He promises to discuss the whole project freely and frankly with the American people, face to face.

Latest advices from the national capital state that the president expects to begin his tour early in February and that the middle west has been chosen as the ground upon which his first public utterances will be made.

In determining upon that course President Wilson has given the very best evidence of his sincerity and good intentions.

There is nothing that is more conducive to a correct understanding of public questions, nothing that exerts a greater influence toward correcting a misunderstanding on the part of the public, nothing which tends more forcefully to bring about harmony between the people and their public servants, than an honest open discussion.

By following the course announced the president will be able to meet those who differ with him face to face and those who differ with the chief executive will have the opportunity of hearing, first hand, his reasons and his purpose.

President Wilson owes much of his strength as a public official to the fact that he has always dealt fairly and openly with the people.

He has always gone directly to the people with every proposal and has been sustained in almost every instance when he appealed to the "folks at home."

No action of all President Wilson has been compelled to take to meet the many troublesome questions which have arisen to confront him during his public service, has met with the opposition the preparedness program has.

It is reassuring to know that the president is going to talk things over with us.

Undoubtedly when the talks end we will all of us understand each other better.

The Time of Reports

This is the time of year when the business man feels certain that the national and state governments have enacted entirely too many laws regulating business affairs.

Buried under a small mountain of blanks to be used in making reports to this, that and the other official, board or commission, many business men engage in their annual anvil chorus.

On the larger incorporated businesses where an army of clerks and statisticians is employed the year round and where everything is kept in methodical order and in exact balance the burden is not felt. Neither is the amount of fees a matter of any considerable moment.

Business men in the smaller towns of the rural sections should be mindful that, for them and their business all the "red tape" is unnecessary, but in order to prevent abuses and to compel those who would not obey the laws, general provisions affecting all alike must be enacted.

And being mindful of that the small business men should be during January and February heroically patient and wade through.

Herrick's Candidacy

The latest entry into the arena of national and state politics of more than general interest, right here in Fayette county, is that of ex-Governor Myron T. Herrick of Cleveland, as a candidate for United States Senator from Ohio.

The entrance of Mr. Herrick in the race has been expected for sometime. The actual announcement was postponed until, in the opinion of his close friends, a sufficient demand for his candidacy was created as a result of their activities.

But all that aside.

Suffice it to say that the announcement of Mr. Herrick's candidacy has not met with the cordial reception his friends had hoped for and believed it would receive. The Herrick announcement has, on the contrary, resulted in more outspoken favor for the candidacy of Hon. Harry M. Daugherty. Party leaders and party newspapers from every section of the state, save Cleveland and its environs, are emphatic in their insistence that Cleveland and northern Ohio, especially in view of the fact that Cleveland is asking Buckeye republicans to support ex-Senator Burton's candidacy for president, has had enough and more than its share of political recognition. It is proper, they assert, that the great central and southern sections of Ohio be given recognition and most important that central and southern Ohio be given more direct representation so that the interests of those sections will be looked after by one in touch and in sympathy with them.

Friends of Mr. Daugherty in this county and in this section of Ohio are elated. The Herrick announcement which has served to knit closer together the adherents of Mr. Daugherty and to bring the support which lay dormant when there was no opposition, into line for active and aggressive campaigning.

Poetry For Today

THE QUEST FOR HAPPINESS.

Just beyond yonder heath, just across yonder stream,
Ever fleeing, evasively,—luring us on,
Sparkling visions of glittering something, gleam
Through daylight's glare,—from twilight till dawn;
Emitting bright flashes, through the dark of life's night,
Eluding us, just as we think to possess.

Flits this will-o'-the-wisp, like a woodland sprite,
Unalloyed,—unattainable,—Happiness.

We scale mountains of trouble, ford rivers of grief,
Pursuing this phantom, just out of our grasp;
Of or hearts make a stone, of our conscience, a thief,
In our zeal to embrace it, in permanent clasp;
Till at length, overcome by the maddening pace
We abandon our hopes,—sink to earth, with a moan,
Then, turning disconsolate, back from the chase,
Find Happiness, waiting serenely, at Home.

GET RICH QUICK SCHEMES.

For Big Investors They May Work, But Not For Small Ones.

"Those who labor hard for their money and who have a still more arduous struggle in saving small sums," says a banker in the American Magazine, "naturally fall easy victims in many instances to the desire for sudden riches. But the fatal error lies in supposing that the person of small means can afford to take the chance. If he or she loses they lose all. The large capitalist and the professional money lender have the law of averages working with them. They can afford to sink money into twenty ventures if they make a thousand per cent on one. They are protected by the law of chance, the average safety of their investments depending upon no single risk."

"Risk is a necessary part of business, but should be borne by the strong, never by the weak. The promoter who talks about the small investor being given the same opportunities as the very rich is indulging in 'bunk.' He always forgets to say that a safe 5 per cent bond or a 6 per cent mortgage, 'cold, impersonal depositories for funds,' will at the end of five years have paid their owners 30 per cent to 35 per cent (allowing for compound interest) and that the vast majority of new ventures with big promises will have paid nothing."

"Only the man who can afford to take risks has any business to look for an investment that will make him rich quickly."

town and one in the country. I think I could safely undertake the responsibility of caring for 200 patients, so put me down for that and whatever expense it would entail. I would rather undertake indoor duties than to run a motor."

Dr. Clara Marshall, dean of the Women's Medical college, has made arrangements by which women so desiring it may be trained in the work of first aid, diet cooking and other adjuncts to hospital work. This training will be carried on without expense to the women desiring to take it up.

Mrs. E. T. Stotesbury was formerly Mrs. Oliver Cromwell of Washington and was married to Mr. Stotesbury in January, 1912, with impressive services which were attended by a number of notables. Her first husband was a prominent yachtsman and died in December, 1909.

For years she had been prominently identified with society life in the capital and also with its philanthropic enterprises. Her taste in this work is shared by her husband, who is a sponsor for several social and civic movements in Philadelphia, where he is at the head of Drexel & Co., the Philadelphia connection with J. P. Morgan & Co.

Mr. Stotesbury is a great lover of painting. It was through him that Oscar Hammerstein was induced to build the Philadelphia Opera House. He holds a directorship in a score of corporations and is an exhibitor at both the Philadelphia and New York horse shows, being fond of all outdoor sports.

CLARAGE CORN ORIGINATED IN NORTHWESTERN FAYETTE

J. H. Galbraith, of Columbus, Unearths Interesting History, Which Shows That Famous Variety of Corn Was First Grown By Edmund Clarridge, in Jefferson or Paint Town ship.

It is not generally known that Clarage corn—one of the best known and most improved varieties in existence, originated in Fayette county upward of a hundred years ago.

This interesting information is carried in an article written by the well known historian, J. H. Galbraith of Columbus, in a recent issue of the Columbus Dispatch. The entire article follows:

"It often happens that the origin of a variety of fruit or grain is difficult to trace, and is not infrequently lost in the chance and accident of horticultural or agricultural operations. The origin and manner of the development of the Clarage corn, probably the best known variety in this and other states in the corn belt, are, however, very definitely known. Its home was in the northwestern part of Fayette county, the time about seventy years ago, and the man who did it was Edmund Clarridge.

The name is a corruption of that of the man who produced the variety. He was born in Maryland, October 2, 1789, the year after the first settlement was made in Ohio. He came with his parents when he was 12 years old, to settle on a farm in Ross county. Twenty years later he married and went to locate his own home in the northwest corner of Fayette county, where in 1867 he died.

His sons continued to develop this variety of corn where their father left it, and added materially to its well-known qualities. The basis of the variety was a native yellow dent corn that he found the farmers of Fayette county raising when he went there, but through many years he carried forward a corn-breeding plan in which he sought for seed ears which showed early maturity, straight rows of grain on the cob, deep grains and a deep yellow color in the grains with a honey yellow cap.

Both Clarridge and his sons always selected their seed corn from the stalks before cutting, and exercising care to have it dried thoroughly, their farm always produced seed corn that was reliable even in years when there was trouble with the seed; and so there came to be a wide demand for their corn.

They always claimed for their corn that it was specially adapted to clay ground, but it is generally used now all over the state except in the bottom lands where white corn is still favored. A son-in-law of Mr. Clarridge, A. B. Core, about 1855, developed what he called the Improved Clarage Corn on his farm near Sedalia, but it has never become as popular as the original."

WILL EXHIBIT NOTED PAINTING

For an entire week in March citizens throughout this part of Ohio will have the opportunity of inspecting one of the world's greatest paintings—"The Last Supper," painted by Mr. W. H. Leavitt, and it will be exhibited by Mr. Leavitt who also will give lectures, and who will be assisted by his talented wife in vocal and instrumental music.

The painting to be exhibited here is valued at $100,000, and every minute it is exhibited here it will be in the custody of a guard, who never allows it to leave his sight.

Arrangements for exhibiting the noted work of art were completed

Thursday afternoon, and it will be shown under the auspices of the Washington High School.

It will be the first time that a painting of such value and such merit has ever been shown here, and thousands are expected to visit it. Mr. Leavitt was for five years with the immortal painter and sculptor Gerome, at the Ecole National Des Beaux Arts de Paris. For several years Mr. Leavitt studied the subject, visiting the Holy land and the house in which tradition says Christ ate his last supper on earth. He worked five years in the actual painting of the picture.

MARTINE ADMITS ADDITIONAL CRIME

Neal Martine, the former B. & O. detective who was dismissed from service on January 19th and later arrested and fined for the theft of guns, handcuffs, and other articles, has admitted that he stole a purse containing about one dollar from Sheriff Jones' office.

The purse disappeared but Martine was not suspected until he was arrested, when it was remembered that he had been in the office at the time the purse disappeared. When accused he admitted that he had gotten it for his "collection," and told the officials he would return the purse and contents.

Before leaving Martine also informed Chief Moore that he would send back to him the silver wreath stolen from the chief's cap.

It also develops that Martine recently badly frightened the night telephone operators, and that he narrowly escaped arrest for his part in an escapade in a local hotel the first night he was in this city.

At the regular meeting of the Y. M. C. A. trustees, Wednesday night, the resignation of Mr. A. H. Ballard was tendered on account of the press of business duties.

The resignation was accepted and Mr. George Hitchcock was chosen to fill the vacancy.

The report of Secretary Patton was received by the Board. The report covers the months of November and December. For the month of November $871.96 was collected, $471.00 paid out for running expenses, and $493.42 paid on old bills, leaving $461 unpaid.

In December the amount received was $408.71 and $662.61 was paid out, which included expenses for fixtures and changes. The outstanding indebtedness at the beginning of the year was $711.89.

SCHOOLS CLOSE ON ACCOUNT OF GRIPPE

The public schools of the city were dismissed at the noon hour, Thursday, for the remainder of the day, the action being due to the widespread epidemic of the grippe which has caused a great falling off in attendance, and also as a result of the continued downpour of rain and the slippery condition of the walks.

The precaution was deemed necessary on account of the likelihood of scores of children contracting the grippe during the inclement weather. The schools will re-open again Friday morning.

ELK ARRIVES AND IS PLACED ON EXHIBITION

He is here! He arrived on schedule time Thursday morning.

"He" is the big elk recently purchased by the Elks in Cincinnati, and now Washington and Fayette county citizens will have an opportunity of viewing the big fellow before he adorns a place in the Elks' Home in this city.

Mr. Elk was shipped over the B. & O. and when he arrived here was met by a number of Elks and escorted to the Airdome on Market street, where he will be on exhibition the remainder of this week, and everybody is invited to take a look at the elk. The place will be open from nine to four o'clock each day.

The elk was in a huge cage, or crate, constructed of wood and bound with iron bands. The crate was lifted aboard a transfer wagon and hauled to the place where he will be confined for a few days. As the animal was hauled through the streets, horses, scenting a strange beast, leaped toward the curb, and pedestrians stared in wonder until they recognized the visitor from printed description.

Dr. Neil B. Jones has volunteered to look after the elk's diet while the animal is exhibited here.

In Social Circles

Society's interest in the charity of the meeting the president, Mrs. Hopkins, made special mention of the responsibilities today resting on the Welfare Association, is quickening and there is every indication that not only the younger sets, always eager to trip the light fantastic but also the older society folk will be largely represented.

Many who do not dance are interested both for the good of the cause and for the pelasure promised in the assembly, the beautiful music and the social features planned.

Miss Regina McDonald, who is a most graceful dancer and has had in successful training classes of Juniors and Juveniles, will put on the stage Fancy dances during the evening, specially for the entertainment of those not dancing.

Not in years has any music proved more delightful than the Varsity Orchestra, brought from Columbus for the New Year dance, and the fact that this music has been secured for the Charity Ball will be a big drawing card.

Contrary to the precedent which has been generally established the price of five dollars for tickets for charity balls, the committee has decided to make the tickets for this one only two dollars, so that there will be nothing prohibitive in the price.

The Presbyterian church Missionary Society had a very large attendance and a meeting of much interest at the commodious home of Mrs. Wm. R. Smith, Wednesday afternoon. Assisting hostesses were Mesdames John Wilson, Kimble, Millikan, Willson, Bowman, Baughn, Kibler, Hale, Hershey, Daughters, Quinn Hapenny, Hammer.

The topics for the day were the Treasury and China. In the opening of the meeting the president, Mrs. Hopkins, made special mention of the responsibilities today resting on the Welfare Association, is quickening and there is every indication that not only the younger sets, always eager to trip the light fantastic but also the older society folk will be largely represented.

Some personal talk about Society work and a greeting to Mrs. S. M. Templeton of Greenfield, who made cordial response, came in before the program.

Mrs. Lon Thompson was the leader and five minute talks on "Business of Missions," Mrs. Bella Ustick, and "Loyalty," Mrs. Jos. N. Willson, were of interest, preceding a paper by Mrs. Gage on "China up to Date." China has everything to interest the public in its leaving the old lines and taking up the new. The society has two missionaries in that country and one in South America; also among the Mormons, the Freedman and in Alaska.

Miss Ada Woodward gave a very pretty solo. Miss Ruth Reid accompanying the singer.

A pleasant social hour and refreshments were enjoyed after the meeting.

Mrs. Bella L. Ustick, assisted by her daughter, entertained a few friends for luncheon Thursday.

RUSSIA POUNDING AT FIRM LINES

Czar's Troops Again Assume the Offensive.

GERMANS TAKE TRENCHES

Turkish Units Wiped Out According to Report From Petrograd—Italian Army Repulses Austrians in Tolmino Region—German Aeroplanes Attack Russian Base—Activities in Other War Zones.

London, Jan. 20.—Russians again have taken the offensive against the Austro-Hungarians on the Bessarabian frontier east of Czernowitz, capital of Bukovina, after a pause since the conclusion of the New Year's battle in the eastern war zone.

Vienna had forecast that the second phase of the battle in this region was imminent by the announcement that the Russians were throwing strong reinforcements into East Galicia. In the initial offensive of what probably will be termed the second battle, the Russians launched with numerous columns four attacks near Toporoutz and Boyan, but, according to Vienna, they were everywhere repulsed.

The Germans have attacked Russian bases at Tarnopol, East Galicia, with an air squadron.

While the Turkish war office asserts that the Russians in the Caucasus have abandoned their offensive along the entire front of nearly 100 miles, owing to the reinforcement of the Ottomans and their assumption of a violent offensive, the latest Russian official communication describes the Turkish army in this region as having been disorganized and dislodged from a strong position extending over sixty-six miles. The Turkish retreat taking on the character of a panic-stricken flight. Several Turkish units, the communication adds, were almost annihilated, hundreds of bodies covering the field of battle.

Although artillery bombardments, mining and counter-mining operations and aerial attacks continue almost exclusively on the western line in France, the Germans report the capture of trenches along the Yser river. Entente allied airmen have dropped bombs on Metz and Anaville, doing some material damage.

Several attempts of the Austrians to approach Italian positions on the Tolmino sector and near Osavla were repulsed. Bombardments have prevailed elsewhere.

Another war council of the entente allies, attended by the British and French members, has been held in London. Nothing is known concerning the council, except that it was held for the discussion of policies for further prosecuting the war.

IT'S ALL OFF

London, Jan. 20.—With the announcement that Montenegro has broken off negotiations for peace with Austria-Hungary comes the official statement in a Paris newspaper that King Nicholas and his family and suite already are on their way to Italy. It is presumed that with the severing of the peace pourparlers the Austro-Hungarians again will take up where they left off the campaign of crushing the little kingdom as Serbia was crushed.

Germer to McDonald to prove, he said, that they were asking for an investigation for political purposes within the organization, and McDonald retorted that he had "never resorted to the underhand method of robbing a man's office to get documents."

EYES OF SAXONY ON CROWN PRINCE

Rumor Says King Frederick May Abdicate.

FEAR MOTHER'S INFLUENCE.

Comparative Poverty Has Kept Divorced Wife of Ruler Quiet in Recent Years, but People Are Worried That She Will Become Active Again if Son Takes Throne.

Paris.—A rumor that King Frederick of Saxony was considering the abdication of his throne in favor of his son, Prince George, probably owes its inspiration to the festivities arranged in Dresden for the young man's twenty-third birthday anniversary on Jan. 15, coupled with the fact that for the past three years, since he became twenty, he has been gradually initiated into state affairs, more and more taking his father's place in the reception of minor committees from the council of ministers and parliament. This has been in accordance with the policy of state to take every precautionary measure possible to protect the heir to the Saxony throne and the Saxon people from the influence of Prince George's mother, the notorious ex-Crown Princess Louise, in the event of the sudden death of King Frederick and the accession of Prince George.

The Saxon government fears ex-Crown Princess Louise's baneful influence upon her son almost as much as the Prussians of a century ago feared Napoleon. She is their nightmare, and for several years, since her so called "memoirs" were published. She eloped from the royal palace some years ago with his tutor, Giron, and was divorced by King Frederick, being compelled to renounce her title as crown princess, her husband conferring upon her the title of Countess of Montignoso. The king took charge of the girl baby born to Louise after her elopement, the child being christened as the king's and given the name of Princess Anne Monique Pie, being included in the royal family and kept away from the mother entirely. Louise's later escapade in marrying an Italian pianist, Toselli, the publicity of a divorce from him and a fight for the child born of this union, with the publication of her memoirs ridiculing her husband's family, had the effect of completely alienating King Frederick and his government from her. Comparative poverty has kept her quiet in recent years.

Prince George's marriage has already received a good deal of attention by his father and the Dresden court, since it is obviously wise to see him settled down early with a prudent wife, whose influence would counteract any which his mother would attempt to exert. A few months before the war it was said that informal negotiations had been opened with the czar for an alliance between the heir to the Saxon throne and the Grand Duchess Tatiana, the czar's second daughter, who will be nineteen next May, a beautiful girl, vivacious and intelligent. This match is, of course, quite impossible now, and the prospective bride generally spoken of at this time is Princess Stephanie of Hohenzollern Sigmaringen, the daughter of Prince Karl of Hohenzollern, who is two years younger than Prince George.

HIGH COST OF LIVING.

Things That Are Mere Comforts Now Used to Be Luxuries.

No economist has put enough emphasis on the fact that if the cost of living is higher now it is to a large extent because the average man is demanding more comforts and luxuries, and these must cost more. Before the days of plumbing and bathrooms the workman missed some onerous bills, but he is not ready to throw the plumbing out of the house.

Oil is cheaper for light than electricity, but people pay more for a modern light because they want the better service even at the higher prices. Workmen by the thousands have phonographs, a form of entertainment unknown until a very few years ago.

Even street cars are rather a new thing, and the poorest families spend many dollars every year for this service, which has become indispensable. Magazines are purchased now by many people who ten years ago had never subscribed for such a publication.

Thousands of articles are for sale in every department store, of which a large percentage are purchased at some time or other by the average wage earning family.

Modern living does cost more assuredly, but it also yields more.—Milwaukee Journal.

SPEED OF A STAR.

With a Thought That Points a Moral to Impatient Humanity.

There is a star—a reddish star known as Arcturus—that is traveling at the rate of 150 miles a second, and what is interesting about it is it is coming this way and will come for many years, but it is so far away that it doesn't seem to have any motion at all. It is in exactly the same spot, so far as our vision is concerned, where it was a century ago.

There is another star known as the "runaway" whose speed is twice that of Arcturus—that is, it could sweep across Ohio in a second of time.

We refer to this fact that the gentle reader may understand how insignificant are the little concerns of life that tear his patience into tatters and turn the world into woe. Long after he has gone Arcturus will be traveling 150 miles a second and to all appearances not budging an inch. How modest and patient should this touch of near infinity make us all! And yet, as Tennyson says:

We cannot be kind to each other here for an hour
We whisper and hint, and chuckle and grin at a brother's shame.
However, we brave it out; we men are a little breed.

—Columbus Journal.

Saves the Tires.

He doesn't look like a very important part of a big automobile organization, this stooped, grizzled man, but the president of a great motorcar company says that "Magnet Bill" saves his salary a dozen times over every day by saving the tires of his employees.

winter "Magnet Bill" may be seen walking slowly about the automobile plant, his eyes on the ground. "Magnet Bill" gets his nickname from the fact that his tools consist solely of one tin bucket and a big steel magnet strapped to the end of a shovel handle. It is his duty to save automobile tires by removing from the roadway every nail and bit of metal that might cause a puncture. Thousands of cars are run over the roadway to the testing place, and it is figured that without the precaution taken by "Magnet Bill" the cost for cut and punctured tires would be $20,000 every year.—Popular Science Monthly and World's Advance.

Origin of a Japanese Dance.

The origin of the Kume-mai, the dance performed at the coronation of the mikado, is traced to Jimmu Teno, an early hero, who while on his eastern expedition found a certain chieftain called Tsuchigumo most obstinate in his resistance and unsubduable. Thereupon he ordered O Kume Nushino Mikoto to entice out the chieftain, to whom sake was offered and dances were shown, with the result that finally he was overcome and slain. The descendants of O Kume Nushino Mikoto put this fact into songs and music, from which sprang the dance.

FEARING CENSURE OF THE PUBLIC

Germany Won't Admit Wrong In Lusitania Case.

WILL PAY FOR LIVES LOST

Germany's Proposal to Reserve Admission of Wrongdoing Not Acceptable to United States and Question May Be Omitted—Claim Evidence of Good Faith Has Been Given in Submarine Warfare.

Washington, Jan. 20.—Germany's proposal in settlement of the Lusitania case to incorporate a reservation of any admission of wrongdoing by her submarine commander is understood to have been rejected by the United States. A new proposal from the Berlin government is expected momentarily, however, and there is a possibility that the controversy may be closed by the elimination of all mention of the merits or demerits of the actual torpedoing of the vessel, Germany agreeing to pay an indemnity for the American lives lost, reiterating expressions of regret and calling attention directly or by inference to the contention that she already has given the most effective disavowal by making assurances for the future.

There are, it was said, numerous objections to accepting a form of settlement which, by going into a discussion of the broad questions involved, might serve as an undesirable precedent in the future. Such a form was understood to have been suggested

ed in the most recent proposal submitted by Germany through Count Von Bernstorff, the German ambassador. It is known that the opinion prevails in various quarters that such a discussion virtually is superfluous, the belief being that the United States already has achieved its aims. Official and Teutonic diplomatic circles remain optimistic regarding the ultimate outcome of the negotiations. A strong desire prevails to settle the controversy in a manner satisfactory to both governments and pleasing to public opinion in both countries. Officials, however, do not believe that a settlement in which Germany is permitted to reserve an admission of wrongdoing would meet with approval in the United States, while, on the other hand, it is declared that the opposition in Germany and public opinion there would not approve of a settlement which would entail an admission that the commander of the submarine was wrong in sinking the Lusitania.

Consequently, it was considered in various quarters there was a strong probability that a settlement might be effected by eliminating discussion of the acts of the commander under a policy of the German government, which has since been changed as the result of negotiations with the United States over submarine warfare.

It is considered in Teutonic circles that the recent assurances regarding the conduct of submarine warfare in the Mediterranean, where, because no blockade exists, no reprisals are necessary from the German point of view, contain evidence of the good faith of the German government in regard to the entire subject of submarine operations. It is urged that the same rules would have applied to the conduct of warfare in the North sea had not Great Britain attempted a blockade of Germany.

States. In his report to the department telling of the identification in his presence of the bodies of Rodriguez and Bacach Valles, former Villista bandits who were shot and their remains brought to Juarez for public exhibition, Collector of Customs Cobb, at El Paso, states that Rodriguez is known to have been blowing up bridges in another locality from that where the massacre occurred, and that there is nothing to show that Valles, known as Villa's "butcher," was involved.

DON'T LIKE IT

London, Jan. 20.—Reports coming here from Stockholm and Copenhagen indicate that Swedish feeling against England is now running so high as to cause considerable anxiety in the Scandinavian countries. The controversies over the detention of mails and the seizure of provisions from the Swedish-American liner Stockholm have particularly incited the people, and King Gustav's speech from the throne at the opening of the reichstag Monday had not helped to allay the general concern. It is pointed out that as well as delivering his warning against the usurpation of power by belligerents, the king entirely omitted the customary reference to the country's good relations with foreign powers.

'COURSE IT WAS IT ALWAYS IS

Washington, Jan. 20.—The Youngstown strike was a sign to the owners and managers of the American steel industry that the end will come; that they can not forever adhere to their present policy of depressing wages below a decent standard by maintaining a vast horde of helpless immigrants in a condition of economic subservience, throwing them on charity during times of depression, paying less than a living wage during times of prosperity and during all times brutalizing them either by imposing excessive hours of employment or by imposing the enforced leisure that breeds fear and pauperization.

This is the conclusion contained in a report on the Youngstown strike and riot of Jan. 7, made public by the committee on industrial relations. The author is George P. West, whose reports on the Colorado strike and the Bayonne strike were published by the United States commission on industrial relations before that body expired on Aug. 23, 1915.

NOT THROUGH WITH THE TALK

Washington, Jan. 20.—The senate committee on foreign relations struggled with the Mexican situation for two hours, but reached no conclusion on any of the pending resolutions looking to intervention. The meeting was one of the most spirited that has been held for a long time. Senator Borah of Idaho called up the Mexican resolutions in the committee and asked for immediate action. Senator Lodge of Massachusetts approved Borah's stand. For two hours the matter was argued with great earnestness, Chairman Stone and Senators Williams and Clarke resisting action at this time. Senator O'Gorman was absent from the meeting.

Some sentiment was disclosed among the Democrats in favor of action looking to intervention. Senator Pomeroy of Ohio, a strong advocate of the administration, expressed the opinion that intervention might soon become imperative.

One reason for postponing action was the failure to receive from the president information called for on Mexican affairs by the Fall resolution. Senator Sherman of Illinois, Republican, introduced another resolution and asked that it be referred to the committee on foreign relations.

General Wood Before Senate Committee.

FOR UNIVERSAL SERVICE

Australian System Affords Best Plan For Universal Suffrage, According to Former Chief of Staff of United States Army—Bill of Representative Hay For Increasing Army Condemned.

Washington, Jan. 20.—Former Chief of Staff of the Army Major General Wood told the senate committee of the helpless plight in which the United States would find itself in event it was confronted with war.

General Wood's testimony was the most impressive that has yet been given. The task of raising an army he likened to the predicament of a man led up to a forest and told to build a glass house. The militia system he declared to be vicious, and the volunteer system as little better. He reiterated that with the country's present equipment for coast defense it would be possible for a modern battleship to draw up off Rockaway and drop shells in Seventeenth street in New York city without running the risk of being touched by shore batteries.

The theory that the nations of Europe after the war will be unable to launch a campaign against the United States he characterized as a farcical drama. The European war had demonstrated as a fact that a large army, far outnumbering the entire standing army of the country, could be landed in a single expedition unless the navy succeeded in affording protection. And the navy of the United States, he added, is now fourth in power. Great Britain alone has launched more capital ships since the beginning of the war than the United States possesses. "After the war we may have all the gold," said General Wood. "But we need to stiffen it with a little iron if we are to protect ourselves."

The plan proposed by General Wood to meet the problem of preparedness followed in general outline the measure introduced by Senator Chamberlain, chairman of the military affairs committee, and differed materially from the Hay bill and the bill proposed by the secretary of war for the establishment of a continental army. General Wood suggested increasing the army to 210,000 men within the United States and its colonial possessions, advocated the enactment of an enlistment law which would pave the way for the establishment of a trained reserve of twice that number of men, and as a basis for future action proposed a system of universal military service for all citizens in one capacity or another. General Wood condemned unreservedly the militia system on which Representative Hay, chairman of the house committee on military affairs, has built plans for increasing the military forces of the United States. The Australian system, General Wood said, affords the best pattern for universal service for the United States. "If we have war we must have at least 2,000,000 men. It is perfect folly to dicker with any system that provides for less."

At the time General Wood was giving his testimony before the senate committee, Senator Cummins in the chamber was advocating the establishment of government factories for making munitions of war. This proposal General Wood characterized as little short of disastrous. "Private plants should be utilized," suggested General Wood. "as a nucleus around which to build an industrial system for military uses. Some of these should be established in the Mississippi valley and the far west. The maintenance of necessary supplies of raw materials should be carefully considered. Nations do not die from war," said General Wood in advocating universal service, "but from long periods of inactivity."

Hugo and His Disciple.
A young man, an admirer of the great poet, attended one of Victor Hugo's receptions, became engaged in argument and lost his temper. Hugo solemnly rebuked him, and he subsided. Presently the guests retired. One of them, however, had forgotten his umbrella and returned to get it. Looking through an open door from the vestibule, he perceived the young man on his knees before the poet, sobbing out his apologies for his disrespectful, while Victor Hugo, with almost regal dignity, extended his hand to him and bade him rise.

IT'S A LONG WAY TO TIPPERARY

A Melo-Drama with the "biggest kick" delivered this season! A real box office magnet! The best military play since "Shenadoah."

Note what the critics have to say: The Philadelphia Evening Bulletin: "It's A Long Way to Tipperary" makes "Across the Pacific," "Shenadoah" and "The Round Up" dwindle to the proportions of a street car riot.

The Philadelphia Record: "It's A Long Way to Tipperary" is well staged. Some good drama with songs.

Buffalo Express: "It's A Long Way to Tipperary" has lots of Zip lively enough to satisfy the most exacting. An interesting play of the up to the minute sort. An unusually good company.

Buffalo Courier: "It's A Long Way to Tipperary" with Irish songs and quaint Irish dialect lends a wholesome charm.

Buffalo Times: "It's A Long Way to Tipperary" was appreciated to the limit last night at the Majestic Theater with a combination of tears, laughter and enthusiasm, by which the play is judged a great success. An excellent cast of performers."

It's the old story, give theater goers a creditable play and they will be right there.

An entirely new scenic production. A company of merit, and note the prices, popular ones that please everybody.

At the Empire Theater, one night Friday, January 21.

A guaranteed attraction. Reserved seat sale opens at Leland's.

CHINESE TRICKERY.

Traders Who Keep Their Victims in Financial Slavery.

Dishonest traveling merchants in China find a particularly lucrative field in which to ply their labors, with the result that almost unbelievable consequences come to light now and then. Some traders, taking advantage of the simplicity of the Mongolians, make an attractive display of goods such as the natives crave to possess, and tempt them to purchase what catches their fancy.

Woe to one who is beguiled to walk into the snare, for the glib tongue of the traveling merchant will soon induce him to take possession of that particular article to which his attention is directed at any price demanded. If he has something to offer in exchange fleeing stops there, but in case he has nothing to give in return a great calamity will befall him.

The vendor will assure him that he is quite welcome to carry away the article on credit. He will come back again to the town after a certain lapse of time. If the native hands over one or several head of cattle as the case may be, and an extra sheep or a horse, equivalent in value to 30 or 40 per cent of the price of the goods advanced, as interest, everything will be satisfactory. However, the merchant on returning seldom collects the price, but is satisfied with carrying away the promised interest, leaving the purchaser in debt so that he can forever milk him.

Thus, it is not rare to see some Mongolians working for the payment of usurious interest on a debt contracted by their fathers or even grandfathers as the result of having fallen a victim to one of these tricky Chinese peddlers.—Argonaut.

Kick of the Gun.

When a young American joins the national guard or, following that instinct which not even long city life can entirely kill, takes a gun and starts out as a hunter, one of the earliest surprises he gets is that nasty hard kick his firearm gives him.

But the kick of the big guns in war is tremendous. Some of the guns jump into the air. In others mechanism takes up the rebound and the gun slides back into place.

It is a curious fact that each of these great guns takes its kick in a way all its own.—New York World.

Strychnine.

The number of plants used for medicinal purposes in the Philippines is very large. A few are recognized as sources of standard medicines, but the number having commercial value is decidedly small. From one, the St. Ignatius bean (Strychnos ignatii), the strychnine of commerce is extracted.

The Most Thrilling Wedding Day in the World's History.

Do you know what was the most thrilling wedding day in the history of the world? There have been many romantic marriages and many nuptial services that had to be deferred because of the opposition of parent or rival, but all of them pale into dingy gray when compared with the colorful spectacle of the abduction and recapture of the Venetian brides in the early winter of 1923, when Candace II, the noble doge, was lending his presence to the biggest wedding party in the history of the Church of San Pietro.

It had long been the custom for all the noble brides to be married on St. Mary's day. It was, moreover, the custom for the brides to bring with them all their jewels and their dowries, in gold coin, inclosed in handsomely carved chests.

The latter fact was well known in Trieste, that ancient Roman colony which was the harbor for bands of pirates who were most clever navigators. On this richest of all St. Mary's wedding days the ceremony for more than a score of brides had already begun when the pirates from Trieste burst into the church, captured the brides and their dowries and carried them to the waiting boats. Thanks to the Trunkmakers' union, there were several boats waiting, and in these the be- reft bridegrooms and the sturdy trunk-makers gave pursuit. There was a battle royal, one of the most thrilling sea fights on record, dowries and brides were recovered, and before midnight all had been safely married.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.
